Woden, Weston Creek and Molonglo edition

April 2017

GREEN WASTE KERBSIDE COLLECTIONS START SOON

Keep a look out in 2017 for more information about the roll out to other parts of Canberra.

More than 5,000 homes in Weston Creek and Kambah have said yes to a new green waste kerbside collection service starting this month.

If you have ordered your bin you should have already received it. Kerbside collections will be fortnightly.

If you live in Chapman, Duffy, Fisher, Holder, Rivett, Stirling, Waramanga and Weston and haven't yet ordered a bin, you can do it online and pay a small one-off fee of $50 (free for concession card holders).

There will be no changes to the self-haul green waste services at West Belconnen and Mugga Lane Resource Management Centres.

 For more information or to order your green waste bin visit tccs.act.gov.au

PLANNING WODEN'S FUTURE

Things are looking up in Woden and we want your say on proposed changes to revitalise the area even further. These include updating rules in the Territory Plan to encourage renewal.

A blueprint is open for feedback on Your Say. It includes master plan recommendations for Woden and the Mawson Group Centre and clarifies rules on building heights that pave the way for new investment.

The plan also reserves a light rail corridor that encourages development along the route and reinforces Mawson as a future transport hub.

 Have your say before 21 April at yoursay.act.gov.au

MESSAGE FROM THE CHIEF MINISTER, ANDREW BARR

As Canberra grows, we need to shape our city so we can stay as one of the world's most liveable cities. In this edition you'll see that we've started building and consulting on a number of parks and recreational facilities that will make life more enjoyable for thousands of people.

Canberrans love our natural setting and our urban renewal agenda will put green spaces at the heart of well-designed new developments. The new City Renewal Authority will lead and manage major projects and better connect suburbs to make sure we avoid the mistakes of Sydney and Melbourne.

From micro parks in Garema Place to revitalising Haig Park and planting hundreds of extra trees along the light rail stage one route, I want to increase the natural beauty of Canberra as we renew our urban areas.

CBR GETS INTERESTED IN HAIG PARK'S FUTURE

Over the past two months Canberrans have provided more than 400 ideas for Haig Park, which will be used to influence a plan for its future use.

Community suggestions so far have included running tracks, an east-west bike path, play facilities, dog parks and additional open lawn space.

Draft designs for the plan will be available at the end of April and will be shared online and at drop-in sessions.

i Keep an eye on our Facebook page and at yoursay.act.gov.au/haigpark for updates.

AUTUMN HAZARD REDUCTION BURNS

A program of hazard reduction burns will take place throughout autumn across the ACT. These are essential in helping to keep the community safe and protect our city from bushfires.

ONLY RAIN DOWN THE DRAIN THIS AUTUMN

Everything that goes down the stormwater drain ends up in our lakes and rivers. The end result is poor water quality that affects everyone, including our local wildlife.

To protect our waterways, we need to keep all rubbish, including grass, leaves, cigarette butts, soil, fertilisers and pet poo, out of our stormwater drains.

Be the 'solution for pollution' and visit the H2OK webpage for practical advice on how you can help to keep our waterways healthy.

PARK, COFFEE, PEDAL TO WORK

How does this sound? Drive part of the way to work, park your car for free, grab a coffee, and then pedal your bike the remainder of the journey.

Canberra's first 'Park & Pedal' is now open at the Lindsay Pryor National Arboretum car park, on Barrenjoey Drive. After parking your car, it's then an easy, off-road, 30 minute ride to the City, Woden, Parliamentary Triangle or Barton.

FROM SCHOOL TO CAREER IN CBR

Canberra public schools offer students a wide range of activities and programs like work experience to help prepare them for life after formal education.

Local student Elise Palethorpe hopes to one day become an environmental scientist or engineer and recently completed work experience at Questacon.

"The experience helped reinforce my love of science and my determination to start a career that will make a difference," she says.

NEW LEARNING SPACES FOR WODEN KIDS

Students and teachers at Curtin Primary School are settling into their newly refurbished learning spaces.

They're enjoying the benefits of a more comfortable and flexible environment, including new paint, carpet and lighting. Improvements are also being made to teacher and staff areas.

Upgrades are continually taking place across Canberra's public schools. These improvements ensure students and teachers have access to high quality learning facilities and that great schools and education are also available in growing areas of the city.

TRAFFIC CHANGES ON HINDMARSH DRIVE

Traffic lights are being installed at two intersections on Hindmarsh Drive at Eggleston Crescent and Launceston Street between Phillip and the Tuggeranong Parkway.

These new traffic lights will make it safer and easier for vehicles to exit nearby residential areas and improves bus, pedestrian and cycle access.

We thank you for your patience and apologise for any traffic delays during the construction of these important works, which are expected to be complete in mid 2017.

HEALTH SERVICES OPEN OVER EASTER

A range of ACT health services will continue to operate over the Easter long weekend. This includes walk-in centres on the corner of Anketell and Pitman Streets in Tuggeranong, and Lathlain Street in Belconnen, which are open from 7.30am to 10pm daily.

Walk-in centres provide free advice and treatment for people with minor illness and injury and no appointment is necessary.

In the event of an emergency, the Emergency Departments at Canberra Hospital and Calvary Hospital will operate as normal over the Easter period.

PLACES FOR PEOPLE AT 'COOLO'S' TRENNERY SQUARE

During last year's community consultation on the future plans for Cooleman Court, it was made clear that you want Trenerry Square to be a more welcoming, attractive and useable space.

With that in mind, improvements to the area will include a grassed area suitable for play, paved seating nooks, better lighting, a drinking fountain and new bike racks. Construction starts in coming weeks.
