Message from the Chief Minister

The ACT Government is getting on with a number of infrastructure upgrades right across the city. From the new Casey Community Recreation Park and upgraded emergency services facilities to a new dog park in Franklin and the new Gungahlin Community Centre; these investments will meet the needs of our growing city well into the future.

The plans we make today will transform our city for tomorrow.

This is an infrastructure program that is built for Canberra, to ensure that we continue to be one of the most liveable cities in Australia and the world.

Early works begin for Light Rail Stage 2A

Early works are beginning on the next stage of Canberra's light rail project: Stage 2A City to Commonwealth Park.

Work includes site investigation to locate services and utilities, including their exact location and depth.

Canberrans can also visit the National Arboretum to view the project's green track prototype. Once laid, the green track will help counter the 'urban heat island' effect, absorb more rainwater and help reduce noise and glare.

More details will be available soon.

Spotlight on Canberra Hospital's new Emergency Department

Work is on track for the opening of Canberra Hospital's new state-of-the-art Critical Services Building. Its brand-new Emergency Department (ED) will have a dedicated children's emergency area with its own triage and waiting area and child-friendly treatment spaces.

It will feature a new six-bed behavioural assessment unit to support better care for adult patients with complex care needs. There will also be separate triage for patients self-presenting and those coming in by ambulance, to help with the movement of patients in the ED.

In addition, the new building will have more medical imaging machines, increasing access to scanning and helping to reduce wait times.

More paramedics for Canberra

There will be more help for Canberrans in their time of need with an additional 11 paramedic crews to be rostered on over each 24-hour period.

As well as allowing ambulance services to better meet community demand, employing more frontline paramedics will improve fatigue management practices and create a better work-life balance for staff.

Free period products in every public school

The ACT Government is committed to providing free period products for every Canberran who needs them.

In every ACT public school, students, staff and visitors can access free period products. They are available during the school day from front offices.

As the initiative is expanded, free period products will also become available at a range of community locations across the ACT.

Gungahlin schools cater to a growing region

Gungahlin College has received extensive upgrades to provide more student learning spaces as the area continues to grow. The college now features larger learning areas, including new transportable learning spaces.

Construction of the new high school in north Gungahlin continues. This new, all-electric school in Taylor will accommodate up to 800 students once complete.

These projects are part of the ACT Government's investment in new and upgraded public schools, ensuring every child has access to high-quality education close to home.

New centre supports Gungahlin youth

Gungahlin's new youth and community hub, Gunners Place, has welcomed hundreds of people since it opened in December.

The facility on Gribble Street offers space for local community groups to meet while the new Gungahlin Community Centre is constructed.

Managed by Barnardos Australia, the facility provides young people with a safe, non-judgemental space where youth workers are available to help and support them.

Development Approval for the new Gungahlin Community Centre project is underway. The facility is expected to open in late 2026.

Eyes on the skies for Canberra Balloon Spectacular

The annual Enlighten Festival is now on, with stunning lighting projections in the National Triangle every night until 11 March.

As the nightly illuminations draw to a close, the focus switches from dusk to dawn. Hot air balloons will fill the sky with colour and movement when the Canberra Balloon Spectacular returns from Saturday, 9 March until Sunday, 17 March.

Experience the excitement as around 40 hot air balloons drift over the city each morning, launching from 6.15am on the Patrick White Lawns behind the National Library (weather permitting).
