

Bulky waste collections for Tuggeranong

Residents in Tuggeranong will soon be able to easily dispose of unwanted bulky items.

Householders will receive a single free collection per year for items including damaged furniture and worn-out appliances. The first collection is expected to start from July 2020.

A message from the Chief Minister

Tuggeranong residents will have access to the Government's bulky waste service from mid-2020. The bulky waste service will ensure that each Tuggeranong household will receive one free collection a year.

This follows the introduction of green bins across the city, more mowing services in every suburb and more city services staff to keep our city tidy. We're providing more services across our city, more often.

Keeping Canberra's high quality of life

Canberra is a thriving and inclusive community that aims for everyone to share in the benefits of a good life.

We are developing a set of Wellbeing Indicators that will guide future government decisions and investments. The indicators will ensure all Canberrans, no matter their circumstances, continue to enjoy a high quality of life here in the ACT.

Cleaning up Tuggeranong's waterways

What's thought to be the biggest rain garden in the Southern Hemisphere will remove around 80,000 kilograms of pollutants every year from stormwater runoff.

The rain garden in Isabella Plains cleans up to 1,800 litres of stormwater every second before it reaches the Lake Tuggeranong catchment.

Since construction began in 2017, more than 35,000 seedlings have been planted and the garden is now home to a wonderful range of aquatic animals, native birds and other wildlife.

Meet your midwife of the year

Sally McRae won the 2019 ACT Midwife of the Year for her tireless work alongside women, before, during and after childbirth.

Sally, a Clinical Development Midwife from Calvary Public Hospital (Bruce), was recognised for leading birthing education programs and supporting research to reduce the risk of infant mortality.

"Our role is very special because we're involved in more than one generation simultaneously and there's not many careers that can do that," Sally said.

Watch out!

Swooping magpies this spring

Take simple precautions to stay safe as you share the environment with magpies protecting their babies:

- walk through the magpie's territory quickly, but don't run
- protect your head with an umbrella, hat or helmet and your eyes with glasses, and
- plan to take a different route next time.
