COVID-19 has put a huge strain on the Canberra community and our economy. Although the spread of the virus has been suppressed, the pandemic is not over and won't be for some time.

The next phase will involve learning to manage the health risks, whilst driving the recovery of the city - from our economy through to our wellbeing.

Message from the Chief Minister

COVID-19 has tested Canberra and there will be no greater priority for the ACT Government in the months and years ahead than our recovery.

Canberra's Recovery Plan includes more jobs for Canberrans, the immediate roll-out of fast-tracked infrastructure projects right across our city, and support for businesses so they can adjust their operations to cater for physical distancing.

It also includes more support for households such as a $150 rebate on household rates and the freezing of a range of government fees and charges, which is on top of failing electricity prices due to the Government's investment in renewables.

Our Recovery Plan will get our city through the greatest challenge we have ever faced.

Carolyn says nurses at Canberra Health Services are good at adapting and innovating to provide the best care for their patients.

'Providing quality patient care and being part of a great team at Weston Creek are the best parts of what I do,' she says.

Projects fast-tracked

More infrastructure projects will be fast-tracked to keep Canberra working through the COVID-19 pandemic.

This program is focusing on work that can start immediately and will support local jobs, businesses and the community as well as provide Canberrans with better infrastructure and services long into the future.

Some of the projects being fast-tracked in Central Canberra are:

- Upgraded playgrounds
- Improvements to 13 schools in the region
- National Convention Centre upgrades
- Improvements to the Inner North Community Health Centre and Walk-in Centre
- Public transport facility improvements.

Building our health infrastructure

Construction has started on Canberra's fifth Walk-in Centre located in Dickson which will service the city's northside.

Canberra back in business

It's time to throw your support behind local businesses as they get back on their feet. By choosing local, you're helping businesses like Derek Kollektive recover from the impacts of COVID-19.

Ana Derek, Derek Kollektive, Braddon

"It's been hard for everyone and every business. I've had a lot of people come in and tell me they've spent so much online, and you don't really want to hear that."

After more than 13 years and five different shopfronts, Ana Derek is what you might call a Braddon original. Nestled inside the Ori Building, her new venture @derek_kollektive_ is one of many cute and quirky boutiques that call Braddon home.

A helping hand for households

We are working to ease the burden on Canberra households as we implement Canberra's Recovery Plan.

This includes the freezing of residential rate increases during the 2020-21 financial year.

All households will also receive a $150 rebate to their residential rates, which will be automatically applied.

Hotel & hospitality recovery package

Our hotel and hospitality industries are one of the hardest hit sectors and despite restrictions easing, it will take time for many businesses to recover.

Support is being provided to these businesses to assist in their recovery. The whole community can also help by shopping and eating local to help businesses get back on track.

Stamp duty cuts to support local jobs

As part of Canberra's Recovery Plan to support local jobs, the ACT will significantly reduce the stamp duty for eventual owner-occupiers on the purchase of:

- Off-the-plan apartment and townhouse* purchases up to $500,000 to zero
- Off-the-plan apartment and townhouse* purchases between $500,000 and $750,000 by $11,400
- Single residential blocks to zero

This initiative will encourage growth in the residential property construction sector to create and support jobs.
