Enrol for free three-year-old preschool

Find out more inside

Message from the Chief Minister

From next year, three-year-olds in the ACT will be able to access one day of free preschool education. Not only will this save families money, but it will also ensure all children have access to early learning before school.

Canberrans will also be able to access even more free public health services at their local

Walk-in Centre, thanks to an investment from the Commonwealth Government.

This additional funding will support ACT Walk-in Centres to hire more nurse practitioners and more allied health staff, including physiotherapists, increase onsite after-hours medical imaging services and provide more equipment to treat a wider range of conditions.

Where to access free three-year-old preschool

From the beginning of 2024, Canberra three-year-olds will have access to up to 300 hours of free preschool.

This amounts to about one day per week for the year and means an average saving of $1329 per child for eligible families.

Quality early learning sets children up for lifelong success. Funded by the ACT Government, free three-year-old preschool will be delivered through partner Early Childhood Education and Care services.

It's time to make a splash

Summer is just around the corner and Dickson, Manuka and Canberra Olympic's outdoor pools are now open.

All venues include shaded pool areas and grassy spaces, making them a great spot for a family day out.

Canberra's indoor pools are also ideal for cooling off, with Canberra

Olympic Pool, Gungahlin Leisure Centre, Stromlo Leisure Centre, Lakeside Leisure Centre and Active Leisure Centre open all year round.

The privately-owned Phillip Pool is also now open to the public for the summer season.

Head online for pool opening times.

Drivers using phones to receive warnings

A three-month warning period will commence soon for mobile device detection cameras.

If a camera detects you using a mobile device while driving, you will receive a written warning notice before infringements start being issued from early 2024.

Taking your eyes off the road for more than two seconds doubles your risk of a crash, so leave your phone alone.

Support local this festive season

With Christmas fast approaching, now is the perfect time to support local artists, makers and businesses.

By buying local, you're helping Canberra's artists, businesses and the economy, as well as giving someone a thoughtful gift or experience.

Some different ways to support local include:

- gift a membership to one of Canberra's galleries or museums, or a subscription to a local theatre

- celebrate with a meal at one of the city's many cafés and restaurants
- support local charities and the environment by buying second-hand gifts
- attend a local workshop and learn how to make your own gifts
- grab a voucher from a local business, such as a beautician or hairdresser.

Safer intersections in Campbell and Downer

Two inner north intersections have received new and upgraded traffic lights, making them safer for all.

There are new lights at the intersection of Limestone Avenue, Treloar Crescent and Euree Street, Campbell, while lights at the intersection of Phillip Avenue and Windeyer Street in Downer have a new right-turn arrow.

These projects were funded by the Australian Government as part of the Commonwealth's Black Spot Program.

Funding boost for Walk-in Centres

Canberra's Walk-in Centres have become part of the national network of Medicare Urgent Care Clinics.

This means all five ACT centres will have more equipment and nurses, giving you and your family more options when you need care for non-life threatening injuries or illnesses.

YOUR SAY CONVERSATIONS

How can the ACT best be ready for and recover from a disaster?

The ACT Government is working to ensure Canberrans are best prepared for and supported – before and after a disaster.

You can have your say in the development of the ACT's first Social Recovery Framework, which will guide social recovery planning, readiness and delivery in Canberra.

To be released early next year, the framework will help ensure social recovery practices focus on the issues most important to Canberrans.

What will you do in a bushfire emergency?

Summer weather brings an increase in bushfire risk. Don't wait until a potential emergency is on your doorstep – now is the time to think about your family's bushfire survival plan.

Follow these simple steps to prepare your home and your family for an emergency.

DISCUSS

What will you do during a bushfire emergency?

If you need to leave your home, where will you go?

KNOW

Do you understand the emergency advice?

Find out more about bushfire warnings in the ACT below.

PREPARE

How will you prepare your home?

- Clean your gutters.
- Trim trees and shrubs.
- Remove and secure loose items.
- Prepare a home emergency kit.

KEEP

How will you keep up to date?

Prepare your mobile phone to receive emergency warnings.

Have you heard of prescribed burns?

The ACT Government conducts several prescribed burns each year to prepare for the upcoming fire season.

These help to protect the region's natural, cultural and built assets and improve fire fighter safety by reducing fuel in areas vulnerable to bushfires.

Scan the QR code to find out when prescribed burns are happening in your area. If you see a fire unattended, call 000.

Changes to emergency warning systems

Canberra's emergency information is now communicated using the Australian Warning System.

Advice

An incident has started. There is no immediate danger but stay up to date.

Watch and Act

There is a heightened level of threat. Conditions are changing and you need to start putting your survival plan into place.

Emergency Warning

You may be in danger and must act immediately.

Preparing for the summer season

Be energy conscious this summer

On extreme heat days, the electricity grid can become strained.

It's important to be mindful of your energy use to help manage demand on days like these while still keeping your home cool and comfortable.

Some tips include:

- setting your air conditioner to 23 degrees or higher
- turning off your pool's heat pump
- switching off unused appliances at the power point. Consider purchasing timers or smart power adaptors that turn multiple appliances off at once.

For more ideas on how to stay cool for less this summer, visit climatechoices.act.gov.au

Be prepared with a home emergency kit

Packing a home emergency kit is a key step in preparing for hazard season. Scan the QR code for a list of items your kit should contain – from a torch and portable radio to those all-important spare batteries.

You can also find details of what to include if you need to evacuate, as well as important tips for maintaining your kit.

Beat the heat and stay well

Extreme heat is serious, and everyone is at risk of heat related illness.

Some groups of people are at higher risk – such as babies and young children, those who are older, pregnant or have medical conditions.

Be prepared for hot days by:

- staying hydrated and cool
- knowing the signs of heat-related stress and exhaustion
- looking out for family, friends and pets
- talking to your GP about how to prepare for extreme heat – if you're at higher risk.

If you or someone you know becomes unwell contact a GP or go to the nearest hospital emergency department.
